

CONTENTS

|   |    |
|---|----|
| PREFACE                                      | ix |
| CHAPTER ONE Introduction                     | 1  |
| Three Legal Dichotomies                             | 1  |
| Feud  | 2  |
| Nature of Violence                                  | 3  |
| Nature of Feuding Groups                            | 5  |
| Feud and War  | 6  |
| Feud and Law  | 7  |
| CHAPTER TWO Form of Law                      | 11 |
| The Manifestation of Law: A Threefold Possibility   | 18 |
| Abstract Rules                                      | 20 |
| Abstracts from Actual Behavior                      | 28 |
| Principles Upheld by Legal Decisions                | 31 |
| Conclusion  | 37 |
| CHAPTER THREE Attributes of Law              | 39 |
| The Attribute of Authority                          | 44 |
| Argument for the Absence of Authority               | 44 |
| Leadership and Authority                            | 49 |
| Definition of Leadership and Authority              | 52 |
| Types of Leadership and Authority                   | 58 |
| The Power Range of Authority Types                  | 60 |
| The Formality Range of Authority Types              | 61 |
| Concrete Examples of Authority Types                | 62 |
| Functions of Leaders and Legal Authorities          | 63 |
| Alleged Absence of Leadership and Legal Authority   | 65 |
| The Kapauku   | 65 |
| The Eskimo  | 72 |
| The Attribute of Intention of Universal Application | 78 |