

Baldwin

Decentralization

yes, but it may be desirable to have ~~institutions~~ ^{we will} keep or ~~govt~~ ^{govt} ~~down~~ ^{and} ~~not~~ ^{not} down ~~down~~ ^{by} ~~an~~ ^{an} ~~interest~~ ^{interest}

Feb

Government & administration ~~usually~~ usually are not able to formulate the problems.

The problems, in fact, are put
by the social scientists themselves (and suggested to the administrators & politicians)

The governments have only in artificial workings, unless it is a concrete task, like consequences of joining the common market where the ~~contacts~~ ^{contacts} with the economy will work all right.

But still - it remains true that social science suffers from a lack of tasks, ~~problems~~ ^{problems} from the ~~existing~~ ^{existing} ~~work~~ ^{work}.