

All methods of structuring private investment were worked out by way of capturing export markets (particularly the tax allowances for investment) ~~at~~ export subsidies, tax allowances, depreciation, wage restraint, and finally technology policy (technical innovation)

They are thus beyond my neighbour remedies. They must ultimately offset mutually and exhaust their power of stimulation which is actually what happened at

+ what was called the failure of Keynesian policies (who is the one whom they beat?)

They are measures based on national competition and therefore the opposite of what Keynes - advocated namely an increase in eff. demand as a means of creating profits & thereby incentive to investment.

The competitive policies work for a selection they will therefore ~~more~~ tend to
